How has your volunteer work with NCSEA prepared you for the commitment of Board service?

Serving on the NCSEA board has awarded me new insight into the decision making aspects of policy and how it relates to the every day job of child support. My commitment to being a board member has allowed me to continue being a voice for the child support case agents. By serving on the board I have been afforded the opportunity to participate in the creation of policies that will effect the strengthen of the family unit and the importance of developing programs that allow fathers to be active participants in the lives of their children.

The child support community - and NCSEA as a body - is comprised of diverse individuals and entities, all dedicated to the child support mission, but with very diverse points of view, policies, and processes.

What do you see as the role of the Board in representing those diverse voices and perspectives in shaping the future of child support?

I see the role of the NCSEA Board in shaping the future of child support as that of an understanding and inclusive group. Our child support customers are diverse in so many ways as so our communities and we as a group have to take into account who we are serving and shape our policies to meet the needs of all. The NCSEA Board should represent the best interests of the families we serve and should embrace new innovating ideologies and perspectives when creating policies. The mission of the board should continue to embrace the evolving changes of our society.
